His story, shows what we can do by helping and making a positive change by raising money for charity.

To begin with, at the age of 11 he left his home due to the abuse he received from his parents. Later, he travelled in a trailer to one of Kenya's largest cities Kisumu.

While on the Streets of Kisumu he lived in very poor conditions. Peter, didn't have the chance to have an education, food or shelter.

However, a project called HOVIC made peter apart of their project. He then had the opportunity to have the rights that every human is entitled to.

Today, Peter has a much happier life and has made many friends since being at this project. His story shows what people have done to raise money and why they are determined to make a positive change in the world.
